WASHINGTON PLEASED

Officials Glad the Tien Tsin Incident Ended Without Bloodshed.

MINISTERS AGAIN MAKE HEADWAY.

Attitude of United States Regarding Indemnities—U. S. cle Sam's Claim of Twenty Five Million Only a Part of the Actual Injury.

Washington, March 22.—Although the situation at Tien Tsin was never regarded here as really dangerous, the officials felt that a prolongation of the hostile attitude of the British and Russian forces might lead to trouble in the end, so that the news of the arrangements by which both of the powers are enabled to recede from their positions without loss of honor was well received here. With this exciting issue withdrawn, the Chinese trouble has assumed a less menacing aspect, and it is reported the ministers have been able, leaving in abeyance the troublesome subject of indemnities, to make some headway toward the disposition of the points remaining to be adjusted under the articles subscribed to by China and the powers as the basis for the joint meeting at Peking.

Further inquiry into the indemnity question makes it appear that the sum of $200,000,000, which our government considers the maximum that should be levied upon the Chinese as a tax, is absolutely the limit of Chinese ability, according to the calculations of the officials best informed as to the resources of China. The figure named does not represent the aggregate of the indemnities claimed. On the contrary, it is understood that these are very much larger. The United States fixed upon the sum of $25,000,000 as a suitable indemnity to be claimed, notwithstanding officials of the various departments are satisfied this sum would provide for the payment of only a certain percentage of the items claimed, because it was felt that this was as much as we should claim proportionately of the total of $200,000,000. It is not the intention to divide the $200,000,000 into as many equal parts as there are powers, but while dividing it into eight or ten parts, to see to it that these parts are so proportioned as to compensate the powers in accordance with the outlay they have been put to in suppressing the Boxer troubles. This government would be willing to abate the $25,000,000 claim if the other powers would reduce their claims in the same proportion, even to the extent of reducing the total estimate to $100,000,000, if by so doing the Chinese government could be relieved by having the tax adjusted to its abilities. But although in grave doubt whether China can pay more than $100,000,000, our government feels itself bound to secure compensation for its citizens and itself to the same extent as is secured by other powers, and is especially resolved to do this because of the conviction that a total abandonment of our claims, or even a heavy reduction without corresponding action on the part of the other powers, would rather injure than help China by destroying whatever of restraining influence the state department has so far been able to exert upon less sympathetic powers.

FIERY FRENCH.

Sons of Gallia Tantalize the British At Every Opportunity.

New York, March 22.—A dispatch from Tien Tsin says altercations continue between the French and British. An Indian officer of high rank horse-whipped a French sergeant. The discipline of the French forces leaves much to be desired. While the French officers are evidently doing their best to maintain discipline, it would not surprise any one to see the French troops get beyond control at any moment. Already have been heard French soldiers hissing their own officers, and it is reported that some French officers have been stoned in a mysterious manner by missiles coming from untraceable quarters.

Contingents of Cossacks are continually arriving, and the Russians have 500 more men than they had a day previous. Nothing has been heard of the arrival at the mouth of the river of the expected reinforcements from Port Arthur or New Chwang. On the other hand, it is reported and believed here that the British fleet is collecting at Wei-Hai-Wei for the purpose of making a naval demonstration against Port Arthur.

Contrary to expectations, three days have passed without serious conflict. The Russians, with the help of between 300 and 400 coolies, are building a road along the river in front of their concession. They reached a point within 50 yards of the British sentries. The British advanced picket lines between 30 and 40 feet from the bank, and there would not be room for the road to be constructed without disturbing the ground upon which the British picket is stationed. General Campbell informed the Russians, however, that he would regard as an act of aggression any attempt of railroad builders to disturb the sidetrack or undermine the positions of the British sentries. Thursday morning the Russian working parties stopped work on the riverside road when they had reached a point within 20 feet of the British position. They subsequently resumed the construction of the road at a point 400 yards further on. The danger of actual conflict was thus obviated for the present.

It is understood here that General Campbell will make no reply to the Russian demand for an apology. The New South Wales naval brigade is here from Peking for the purpose of reinforcing the Victorian contingent in guarding the British settlement. The presence of these troops and the arrival of marines from Taku has had a reassuring effect upon the community. A plan to barricade the British settlement has been much discussed, but has not been carried out.

Troops Withdrawn.

Peking, March 22.—The troops on both sides of the disputed land at Tien Tsin have been withdrawn and all danger of a fracas is ended. The opinion of the British is that the promptness of General Barrow in calling up the marines from Taku prevented a collision. The British report that prior to the arrival of the marines sentries were supplied from the Madras pioneers, who for several days were surrounded by crowds of foreign soldiers, mostly French, who assailed them with all kinds of abuse, calling them "coolies." The Madrasese were becoming restive, when the marines arrived at night and quietly relieved them, and it was only when daylight appeared that the Russians discovered the change.

Alarming Reports.

New York, March 22.—A dispatch from Berlin says a number of newspapers publish alarming news regarding the situation in China. England is said to be backing up Japan, which is mobilizing her army, and the Russian fleet is assembling at the Yalu river. The mediation of Count von Waldersee in the Tien Tsin dispute has been refused by both English and Russians. An article in the semi-official Post does its best to calm the public mind and states there is no ground for anxiety. Certain influences, it is said, will be exerted in order to prevent the present conflict becoming more embittered.

Manchurian Treaty Modified.

London, March 22.—Advices have been received here from Peking to the effect that Yang Yu, the Chinese minister at St. Petersburg, recently stated that modifications of some of the articles of the Manchurian treaty had been conceded by Russia. It is claimed these modifications were intended to avoid placing obstacles in the way of the sovereignty and independence of China. The modifications were forwarded by the Chinese plenipotentiaries to the court at Sian Fu. An edict has been received at Peking in reply stating that the treaty can not receive imperial sanction.

Chinese Decree.

Berlin, March 22.—A dispatch from Peking says an imperial decree in accordance with the peace conditions has been placarded on the walls of Peking threatening all anti-foreign societies with punishment.

SHRINERS IN HONOLULU.

Will Partake of the Feast of Luau And Install a Temple.

Honolulu, March 14, via Victoria, B. C., March 22.—The steamship Sierra arrived March 13 with the visiting Shriners from Grand Rapids, Mich., and other places. The run was made in the quick time of five days and ten hours. The reception committee of the local Shriners chartered a tug and met the steamer outside the harbor. A large crowd was at the landing to receive the Shriners. The excursionists were escorted to automobiles and hacks and conveyed to the new Moana and Hawaiian hotels. No special program for the entertaining of the guests had been arranged, the idea being for the local Shriners to entertain the visitors in an informal way. Sunday the Shriners will attend the native feast of Luau given by the local institution. A ball is to be given in honor of the visitors, who will also attend a theatrical performance. A local temple will be installed at this place during the visit. The government band gave a concert at Moana hotel in honor of Shriners.

New Mexico Wants In.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 22.—Governor Otero has signed a resolution adopted by the territorial legislature authorizing the appointment of a nonpartisan committee of fourteen, with the governor as an ex-officio member, to go to Washington and work for statehood and against the international dam project.

BRITISH ARE PUZZLED

Can't Understand Why Boers Reject Peace Proposals.

DETAILS OF THE CORRESPONDENCE.

Kitchener's Offer Approved by Milner And Chamberlain Promised Almost Everything Except What the Boers Want, Independence.

London, March 22.—In the house of commons the colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, informed Mr. Trevelyan, Liberal, that he was unable to inform the house what were the Boer reasons for rejecting the peace terms.

The parliamentary papers giving details of the negotiations between the Boer commander-in-chief, General Botha, and Lord Kitchener, commanding the British forces in South Africa, begin with a telegram from Alfred Milner to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain. The dispatch is dated Pretoria, Feb. 22, and states that Mrs. Botha had returned from a meeting with her husband, bringing a letter in reply to Sir Alfred Milner's verbal message offering to meet General Botha as a means of ending the war, on the express understanding that he could not discuss the question of independence.

Lord Kitchener, Feb. 28, reports a long interview with General Botha, who showed very good feeling and seemed anxious for peace. He asked for information which he said he would submit to his government, the generals and the people. If they agreed he would visit the Orange River colony and get them to agree. Should all then stand in their arms it would finish the war. He said they could go on for some time, and he was not sure he would be able to bring about peace without independence. "I declined to discuss such a point," said Lord Kitchener, "and said a modified form of independence would be most dangerous and would lead to war in the future. Replying to General Botha's inquiries, I informed him that when hostilities ceased the military would be replaced by a crown colony administration consisting of a nominated executive and an elected assembly to advise him, followed after a period by a representative government. The Boers would be licensed to have rifles to protect themselves against the natives, the Dutch natives; the Dutch and English languages were to have equal rights; Kaffirs would not have the franchise until after representative government had been granted; the Orange Free State laws for Kaffirs would be considered good; church property, public trusts and arpjhans' funds would not be touched; no war tax would be imposed on farmers; assistance would be given to repair the burned farms and to enable the farmers to start afresh, and colonists who had joined the republics should be disfranchised. General Botha generally seemed to be satisfied with these conditions."

Important Points to Botha.

Among the questions to which Lord Kitchener apparently did not reply were when the war prisoners would return, and regarding the taking over of debts of the republics, including those legally contracted since the beginning of the war. General Botha was reported to be making a strong point of t.s.s. He referred to notes which had been issued amounting to less than £1,000,000.

March 3, Sir Alfred Milner cabled Lord Kitchener suggesting a reply to General Botha making the following additional concessions: On the cessation of hostilities and the surrender of arms and munitions of war Great Britain would grant amnesty in the Transvaal and Orange River colony for all bona fide acts of war during the hostilities, as well as move the governments of Cape Colony and Natal to similar action, qualified by the disfranchisement of any British subjects implicated in the war. The military prisoners in St. Helena, Ceylon and elsewhere, on complete surrender, shall be brought back to their country.

Mr. Chamberlain, March 6, directed Lord Kitchener to modify the terms on a number of points. Eventually Lord Kitchener reported to the war office, under date of Pretoria, March 20, that he had written General Botha the terms the government was prepared to adopt, the same as already given except in the following particulars: "The government can not undertake any liabilities regarding the debts of the late republics, but is prepared as an act of grace to set aside a million pounds to repay the inhabitants for goods requisitioned by the republican governments. If the claims after adjustment exceed £1,000,000, they are liable to reduction pro rata. The Kaffir franchise, when given, shall be so limited as to secure a just predominance of the white race. The legal position of the colored inhabitants will be similar to that now held in Cape Colony." The letter concludes: "I must inform your honor that if the terms now offered are not accepted after a reasonable delay for consideration, they must be regarded canceled."

March 16, Lord Kitchener received General Botha's acknowledgement of the receipt of the letter. "I had advised my government," wrote General Botha, "of your excellency's letter, but after the mutual exchange of views in our interview at Middleburg, Feb. 28, it will certainly not surprise your excellency to know that I do not feel disposed to recommend the terms of said letter, but they shall have the earnest consideration of my government. I may add that my government and my chief officers here entirely agree with my views."

RAISED THE RATES.

Eastern Trade With Hawaii Given a Solar Plexus Blow.

San Francisco, March 22.—It is claimed that eastern competition in the trade of Hawaii through San Francisco is to be shut off, temporarily at least. For years the Southern Pacific has made a low through rail and water rate from Chicago and other eastern cities to Honolulu, the rail end of the through rate from Chicago to San Francisco being much lower than that charged merchants of this city on the same class of business, and the water end of the rate much lower than the water rate charged local merchants to Honolulu.

The Southern Pacific has decided to abolish the low through rate. Hereafter the Chicago or St. Louis merchant shipping goods to Hawaii will be charged the regular rail rate to this city plus the usual water rates to the islands. The company has issued a notice to this effect.

Ohio Incorporations.

Columbus, O., March 22.—Hickory Lane Realty company, Cleveland, $100,000; Ranny Fish company, Cleveland, increase from $100,000 to $120,000; Progress Telephone and Telegraph company, West Milton, increase from $10,000 to $30,000; Philip Carey Manufacturing company, Cincinnati, increase by preferred stock to amount of $100,000; Julius Fleischmann Mutual Aid of Cincinnati; Highland Building company, Toledo, $12,000; Cleveland Poultry and Pet Stock company, Cleveland, $5,000.

Strike Leaders Discharged.

Pittsburg, March 22.—President W. D. Mahon of the International Association of Street Railway Employees of America is in Pittsburg investigating a new dispute between the Monongahela Street Railway company and its employees over the discharge of four men, who, the men say, were the active spirits in the short strike last month. The company claims the men were discharged for cause. President Mahon thinks the trouble can be adjusted without resorting to a strike.

Calamities in Australia.

Victoria, B. C., March 22.—Extensive bush fires have prevailed in Australia, according to news brought by steamer Miwera, the worst being at Mirrhee settlement, which was devastated. Not only were 20 homesteads destroyed, but many lives are said to have been lost. An engine attached to a passenger train on the Sydney-Illawarra railroad jumped the track soon after leaving Sydney. The engine and the first car were wrecked. Nine persons were killed and 26 injured.

Taking a Course of Mumps.

Chicago, March 22.—Two departments of Lake Forest university, at Lake Forest, Ills., were closed on account of the prevalence of mumps, which has become almost epidemic among pupils of the institution. In the college and seminary, women's department, recitations will not be renewed before April 3. Nearly 20 cases have broken out, the disease being especially prevalent among the young women students.

Massachusetts Afloat.

Washington, March 22.—Navy department officials were relieved of all apprehension concerning the big battleship Massachusetts, which ran aground in Pensacola harbor while on her way out to sea, by the receipt of a telegram from Captain Reisinger, commandant of the Pensacola yard, announcing that the Massachusetts got off the bar and was towed outside. She has joined the squadron.

Transferred to Washington.

Copenhagen, March 22.—M. De Marquette, first secretary of the French legation here, has been appointed counsellor of embassy, and will soon be transferred to Washington. His wife is a sister of Edmond Rostand, the dramatist, and is a great beauty.

Filipino General Surrendered

Manilla, March 22.—General Fullon and 180 of his command, armed with rifles, surrendered to Colonel Scott of the Forty-fourth volunteer infantry at Antique, island of Panay.

HANNA RATHER HUFFY

Displeased Because Nebraska Message Was Made Public.

WILL SEND NO MORE TELEGRAMS.

Administration Anxious to End the Senatorial Deadlock—Hanna Saw The President About It—Words That Warmed the Wires.

Washington, March 22.—The Nebraska senatorial situation was considered at a consultation between the president and Senator Hanna, chairman of the Republican national committee. The administration is anxious that the deadlock in the legislature be broken, in order that the election of two Republican senators may be accomplished, and the Republican national committee has been exerting its influence to that end. Senator Hanna did not relish the publication of the telegrams which he sent to Lincoln urging acquiescence in the will of the majority, and says he will send no more telegrams to people to make them public. He may, however, find a way of answering the telegram sent to him by the ten bolting Republicans, declaring that the election of D. E. Thompson, one of the candidates, would be disgraceful.

"I have hopes," said the senator, when he left the White House, "that sooner or later loyalty to the Republican party will bring the bolters to their sensibilities."

The telegram sent by Senator Hanna urging the election of Mr. Thompson was as follows:

"Hon. J. A. Whitmore: The friends of the administration here are deeply concerned about senatorial deadlock in your state, and we ask your influence to secure settlement on caucus recommendation by national committee." Ten of the anti-Thompson men joined in the following telegram to Senator Hanna: "Short caucus nomination ignores recommendations of national committee. His election would be disgraceful to state and suicidal to party. Will oppose him to the end."

Deadlock Continues.

Lincoln, Neb., March 22.—On the senatorial ballot Lorenzo Crouse voted for D. E. Thompson. The Fusionists brought in two men from sick beds and caused a change of pairs with the one sick Republican member, so that three more votes were cast, raising the number necessary to elect to 65. The vote: Allen (Fusion) 59, Hitchcock (Fusion) 49, W. H. Thompson (Fusion) 10, D. E. Thompson 59, Crouse 6, Currie 8, Meiklejohn 23, Hinshaw 10, Rosewater 32, scattering 2.

Presidency of the B. & O.

Pittsburg, March 22.—A story is published to the effect that James McCrea, first vice president of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, is said to be slated for the presidency of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and that the present president, John K. Cowan, will be given the chairmanship of the Baltimore and Ohio board of directors, now held by William Saloman, who, it is reported, will resign that office soon.

Appeals For Aid.

Indianapolis, March 22.—Governor Durbin issued a proclamation to the people of the state asking for aid for the destitute of Memphis, Clark county. Two hundred people were rendered homeless and destitute on account of the fire, which burned 55 houses. The appeal is for clothing, food and money. Before leaving for West Baden the governor telegraphed the war department for tents and blankets for the people.

Mines Closed Till Monday.

Shamokin, Pa., March 22.—All the Mineral, Union and Reading collieries in this part of the Ninth United Mine Workers' district were closed down today until Monday by the companies. Scarcity of cars is given as the reason. Many miners believe the operators are either attempting to prevent them from striking, or are firing the first gun in advance of the possible labor troubles April 1.

Foundry Laid Low.

Fort Wayne, March 22.—Fire destroyed a large part of the plant of the Kerr-Murray machine works in this city, the molding department alone escaping. It is difficult to estimate the loss on the whole store of patterns, on which cash value can scarcely be fixed, but loss to buildings, machinery, stock, etc., will exceed $50,000; insurance $32,000.

Washington, March 22.—The cabinet meeting was not protracted. The latest advices from China, largely press reports, indicating an adjustment of the acute situation between the Russian and British at Tien Tsin, was considered reassuring. Secretary Hay resubmitted the recent dispatches from Commissioner Rockhill.

PRESIDENT HADLEY, the head of Yale University, is outspoken in depicting the dangers before the United States because of trusts. At the old South Church in Boston, speaking on a recent Sunday night to one of the richest church societies in New England, Mr. Hadley said: "We will have an Emperor in Washington within twenty-five years unless we can create a public sentiment which, regardless of legislation, will regulate the trusts." The drift of the address will be well understood by his declaration that, while personal morality is high as compared with other nations, yet "our actions in politics and in a social and business sense prove our moral standards in these directions desperately low." "To-day," said President Hadley, "with our industries organized into trusts, and the imperialistic spirit developed in politics, the general development of the principle of trusts will become appalling unless we cultivate a higher standard of morality than ever before."

THANKS to dirty politics, and the war upon capital and enterprise that now prevails in this State, here is one straw that shows how the wind is blowing in Kentucky.

"SERGENT, Ky., March 21.—More than fifty families have left this county within five days, en route to Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory. Many more will go."

It is fair to say that this outflow of Kentuckians to other sections, where inducements are offered and encouragement extended to new residents, is not confined to any one county—it is becoming universal; and if the people of the State do not rise up in their might and dethrone the political demagogues and put sensible men in the legislative halls, Kentucky will soon be deserted by all her own sons who can get away and be shunned by good people who might otherwise be induced to make their home here.—Public Ledger.

Less than a month ago, fifty families left the vicinity of Felicity, O-h-i-o, for Everett, in the State of Washington. Now will the Ledger editor, who is daily slandering his own State, please to account for this "outflow" of Ohioans from their State? No "political demagogue" is doing Kentucky half the injury that is done it by the malicious vaporings of such men as the editor of the Ledger. The people who are leaving Kentucky and Ohio for the West are prompted, as the Ledger scribe well knows, by the same motive, the hope of bettering their condition from a financial standpoint. And half of them will probably be making their way back to their old homes in less than five years, sadder but wiser. "Dirty politics" has nothing to do with the case, except in the mind of the Ledger editor.

COL. BRECKINRIDGE'S WARNING.
Viewing the big trusts recently organized and the disposition of corporations to "get together" in still bigger combines, Col. Breckinridge of the Lexington Herald sounds a note of warning. He lays bare the dangerous element in these "combines," the fact that a big portion of their stock represents no actual investment, no value whatever in dollars and cents—in other words, it is simply "wind" as some one has expressed it. Col. Breckinridge says:

The late combination made under the masterful leadership of J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates, the recent combinations of railroad companies followed or accompanied by the very large, but, comparatively speaking, smaller combinations, indicate the progress which this movement has made in America. But accompanying it is the danger of great increase in the nominal amount of stocks and bonds without any other increase in the values of the property, save such as comes from combinations rather than competition. This has been estimated at hundreds of millions of dollars. There are now on the market hundreds of millions of dollars of stocks and bonds at their nominal value which represent no increased value of the properties bound for these securities, except such as is given to them by these combinations. It is estimated that the saving of expense and the possible increased price of the product will increase the net income of these various corporations; and on that prophecy, if it be a prophecy, and on that basis, if it be a basis, other millions of dollars of stocks and bonds have been put upon the market, the interest and dividends on which must be made out of the same properties which have heretofore not been so valued.

This is a most dangerous experiment. As long as the gale lasts and all the sails are spread ships of every size will sail merrily towards blessed and profitable harbors; but if any storms come and the sails have to be reefed, with ballast so insufficient many of these vessels will go to the bottom precisely as they did in 1873 and in the decade from 1880 to 1890. Gentlemen went to bed thinking they were worth millions in the shape of bonds and stocks locked in tin boxes and safely deposited in safety vaults, and woke up to find that they were almost uppers. In the night the value had collapsed as certainly as Jonah's gourd withered away. What has been may be. It may not come to-day and may not come to-morrow; but this is the danger in the late co-operative movements which have characterized the past few months. And the pathos of it is, as a rule, the losses will fall upon those who can ill afford to stand them. These bonds and stocks will be gradually distributed among innumerable smaller purchasers, trustees for widows and orphans, boards of directors for charitable institutions, men past middle life who have retired to spend a few years on the well-earned income of years of labor.

We are a very rich country. We are growing with great rapidity. Our wealth grows faster than our population. We have millions of acres of land as yet unopened. Our mineral resources are scarcely touched. We ought to be able to control the markets of the world. The balance of trade is largely in our favor. Nothing but fatuous, stupid legislation can shut those markets against us; and we may be able to escape the danger herein set out; for it may be that these properties may be able to produce under the increasing demands of tomorrow, under the rapid growth of our population and its necessities, all that is promised and more.

We sincerely trust so—but we fear the result.

HOT ONE FROM BRYAN.

In this week's issue of The Commoner, under the heading, "Six Dollars Reward," W. J. Bryan replies to the letter of ex-President Cleveland to the Crescent Democratic Club of Baltimore. Mr. Bryan refers to Mr. Cleveland's expression, "A return to Democratic principles," and offers the former President $6 for a definition of what he means. Mr. Bryan then continues:

When the battle was on between a republic and an empire, between a democracy and a plutocracy, between bimetallism and monometallism, he (Cleveland) refused to say a word or lift a hand in behalf of the public and for file, for whom he now expresses such an affectionate solicitude. As soon as the election was over he came forth from his seclusion and made the air vocal with his suggestions.

Assuming to be inspired by a purer Democracy and boasting of a superior virtue, he began to offer unsolicited advice to the party to which he once belonged. He is like the soldier who was discovered as "invisible in war and invincible in peace." To desertion of the party organization and betrayal of the principles of the party he adds ostentatious pretense of interest in the plain people, while he conceals his ideas in ponderous and platitudinous phrases.

If he will clearly and candidly define the Democratic principles about which he is so prone to talk the people can decide for themselves whether he is the same Mr. Cleveland who turned the Treasury over to a foreign syndicate and intrusted J. Pierpont Morgan with the combination of the Government vaults and then supported the Republican ticket because his administration was not intended.

OUR STATE HOUSE.

And Our Tobacco Chewers as Viewed by New York Newspaper Man.

[W. A. Curtis in New York Times.]

Just ahead, as I left the station, was the Capitol square. "Statehouse," they say in Kentucky, as they say in the East and do not say in the West. I wonder if any other State is so inadequately provided with State official buildings. In an illustration of John Fox's novel, "The Kentuckian," the hero is seen speaking in a lofty and vast chamber, supposedly addressing the Kentucky Legislature. In reality, the legislative chambers are mere rooms, smaller than the municipal court-room of the average city of thirty or forty thousand souls. Many of the Kentucky court houses and a majority of the court houses in the Northwest surpass the little Capitol. The Capitol has a certain simple dignity, with its columned porch and gray walls, despite its diminutive size, but the judiciary building at the left is a commonplace two-story red brick house, and the executive building at the right a commonplace three-story sandstone city business block. Within, the all-prevailing habit of chewing tobacco.

The great majority—a majority silent and ruminant, but not dead—of Kentuckians chew; the majority have tobacco in their mouths through all their waking hours.

Night Was Her Terror.

I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frighteningly and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained fifty-eight pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, la grippe, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c. and $1. Trial bottles free at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store.

For ready mixed paint that's guaranteed call at Ray's Postoffice drug store.

"PRIVATE JOHN ALLEN."

An Enjoyable Southern Play To Be Given at Opera House Next Monday Night.

MARIE DROPNAY, LEADING WOMAN WITH CHAS. B. HANFORD IN ABOVE PLAY.

There is much to praise in "Private John Allen," the play in which Mr. Charles B. Hanford appears next Monday night at the opera house. The play is partly of a political nature, and the scenes and characters of the South.

The locale of the play is in Caddo Parish, Louisiana. It tells the story of an exciting campaign for Governor and the unjust campaign against "Private John Allen" who is forced to retire when nomination and election are in his grasp. He is accused of being a deserter in the war. Proofs to refute this charge are stolen by Lem Blackman, a politician of the opposite party. Allen shields Alexis Lemmee, Democratic nominee and the beneficiary of Allen's withdrawal, by assuming the odium that should come to Lemmee for a dark chapter in his life. The love interest is furnished by three pair of sweethearts, chief of whom are "Private John Allen" and a charming widow.

The distinctive and typical characters in a southern town have been admirably portrayed. The play will be staged beautifully. The company carries its own scenery throughout and each scene is perfect in appointment.

This play was given at Lexington Wednesday, and the company was at once engaged for a return performance this afternoon and to-night.

A local hardware firm the other day received a shipment of 1,490 screen doors and 300 windows, being part of a consignment of 2,000 pieces due to arrive by the first of April. This would seem to afford an effective barrier to all summer pests that have wings, at least for this county, but owing to the large wholesale trade enjoyed by the concern, much of this invoice will find its way into other territory, due to the fact that, because of large purchases direct from first hands, Maysville merchants are often, as in this instance, in a position to sell small dealers right under the very noses of large jobbers from the metropolis.

THIRTY MILLIONS

A Year Carnegie Would Have To Spend To Avoid Dying Rich.

[New York Cor. Pittsburgh Dispatch]

Andrew Carnegie's famous declaration "It is a disgrace for a man to die rich," will make it necessary for him to spend at least $30,000,000 a year for the next ten years if he expects to make a practical example of his doctrines. This is shown in the following figures:

Steel company bonds, $250,000,000; British war loans, $10,000,000; other investments, $40,000,000; total fortune $300,000,000.

Income from steel securities, $10,000,000; income from other sources, $5,000,000; total income annually $15,000,000.

Disbursement of $1,000,000 a month in a year, $12,000,000; personal expenses yearly, $3,000,000.

Mr. Carnegie is now sixty-five years old. His expectations of life, if the calculations of the insurance companies are to be trusted, is about ten years. In order, therefore, to avoid the "disgrace" of dying with what he would probably consider wealth he must give away at least $30,000,000 a year for ten years, which would reduce his fortune to about $7,000,000.

RUMPS IN A RATHSKELLER.

Dazed Nighthawk Emptied a Revolver. Two Theatrical Men Wounded.

New York, March 22. — Two men were shot in the rathskeller of the Pabst hotel by a man who is believed to be insane. The injured men are John B. Leffingwell, 40, of the Broadway theater, wounded in the left side, and Alexander F. Dingwall, general manager of Jacob Litt's theatrical enterprises. Robert H. Moulton, 24, who says he is a student and a native of Tennessee, not in any business and a guest of the Criterion hotel, is locked up charged with having done the shooting. A detective sent to the rathskeller found Moulton in custody of a half dozen men, and a crowd of men and women talking excitedly. The injured men had been taken away in cabs by friends. No ambulance was called, but instead a physician was summoned to dress their wounds, which, it is said, are not serious.

There were about 75 men and women in the rathskeller eating and drinking, when suddenly the door was flung open and Moulton entered, appearing to be under the influence of drugs or liquor. It is said he made some insulting remarks about the women present, which was resented by some of the men. Moulton, it is alleged, thereupon drew a revolver and discharged all five chambers, and the two men fell to the floor injured. When Moulton was arrested he appeared to be dazed and asked repeatedly, "What have I done?" "What have I done?"

It was only after repeated questions had been shouted into his ear that it was discovered he is deaf. The prisoner gave his name and address in answer to written questions.

When he was arraigned in police court he said he was Robert H. Moulton of Springfield, Tenn., and that he had been student three years at Columbia university. He was held in $5,000 bail for examination Monday.

Mr. Sam P. Bridges is on the sick list.

Rev. J. W. Porter will preach morning and night to-morrow at the Baptist Church. Morning subject, "Christian's Excuses For Not Attending Church." At night he will deliver a popular lecture on "Young People's Work." Speaking of this lecture, the Huntington Herald of the 16th, says:

The audience room of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church was the scene of a goodly number of young people from each of the different churches of the city, composing the Huntington Young People's Society, held spell bound by this fluent speaker in one of the best discourses ever listened to along the line of young people's work. We are sure that his address has done much good and will stir them on to greater and renewed zeal. Dr. Porter's address was brim full of wholesome truths and interspersed with just enough wit and humor to hold his audience. He emphasized the importance of Bible reading—and studying, and that no one can effectively do the work of the church without a full knowledge of what it teaches. To sum up, his lecture was just what should have been said and everything was said in a way to drive the truths home to every one who heard him.

Baptizing at the close of the lecture.

Col. W. W. Lamar, who fell and injured himself in Cincinnati this week, remains in a serious condition. He has but slight chances of recovery, owing to his advanced age.
